

ABSTRACT

A system and method for manufacturing fertilizer nutrients from poultry litter. The method of the invention includes heating and pasteurizing raw material; drying the heated and pasteurized material; reducing the dried material to a powder; and pelleting the powder to granular and homogenized pellets. The poultry litter fertilizer is high in nitrogen and provides a good source of nutrients for many crops.